Poetry.

The Bonny Hands that Make Good Bread.

BY JOHN S. ATCHISON.

Down the charms of rounded arms,
Of eyes that love's soft luster shed,
Of tresses, hair, and tresses fair,
Of cheeks that coy with white and red
Of pouting lips where Cupid dips
The arrows that to hearts are sped:
Yet, none of these my fancy please
Like the bonny hands that make good bread.

Some hands have art to move the heart,
By waking music's sweet appeal;
Some borrow dyes from perfect skies,
And, through the canvas, make us feel;
Some make the dress fair form caress
To win the heart and turn the head;
For me, more rare beyond compare
Are the bonny hands that make good bread.

Gay maidan, vain the rustling train,
Those jewled hands so idly crossed,
That idler mind can pleasure find
In every hour ignobly lost!
Your jewels shine, your looks are fine,
But I'll not seek, where'er I wed,
For jewled hands, or gold and lands,
But for bonny hands that make good bread.

Selected Story.

The Stolen Note, or, The Sequel to an Unpleasant Affair.

BY A RETIRED ATTORNEY.

Except that he indulged too freely in the use of the intoxicating cup, John Wallace was an honest, high-minded man. His one great fault hung like a dark shadow over his many virtues. He meant well, and when he was sober he did well.

He was a hatter by trade, and by industry and thrift he had secured money sufficient to buy the house in which he resided. He had purchased it several years before, for three thousand dollars, paying one thousand down, and securing the balance by mortgage to the seller.

The mortgage note was almost due at the time circumstances made me acquainted with the affairs of the family. But Wallace was ready for the day: he had saved up the money: there seemed to be no possibility of an accident. I was well acquainted with Wallace, having done some little collecting, and drawn up some legal documents for him. One day his daughter, Annie came to my office in great distress, declaring that her father was ruined, and that they should be turned out of the house in which they lived.

"Perhaps not, Miss Wallace," said I, trying to console her, and give the affair, whatever it was, a bright aspect. "What has happened?"

"My father," she replied, "had the money to pay the mortgage on the house in which we live, but it is all gone now."

"Has he lost it?"

"I don't know: I suppose so. Last week he drew two thousand dollars from the bank, and lent it to Mr. Bryce for ten days."

"Who is Mr. Bryce?"

"He is a broker. My father got acquainted with him through George Chandler, who boards with us, and who is Mr. Bryce's clerk."

"Does Mr. Bryce refuse to pay it?"

"He says he has paid it."

"Well, what is the trouble, then?"

"Father says he has not paid it."

"Indeed! But the note will prove that he has paid it. Of course you have the note?"

"No. Mr. Bryce has it."

"Then of course he has paid it."

"I suppose he has, or he could not have the note."

"What does your father say?"

"He is positive that he never received the money. The mortgage, he says, must be paid to-morrow."

"Very singular! Was your father [illegible]

I hesitated to use the unpleasant word which must have grated harshly on the ear of the devoted girl.

"Mr. Bryce says father was not quite right when he paid him, but not very bad."

"I will see your father."

"He is coming up here in a few moments; I thought I would see you first and tell you the facts before he came."

"I do not see how Bryce could have obtained the note, unless he paid the money. Where did your your father keep it?"

"He gave it to me, and I put it into the secretary."

"Who was in the room when you put it in the secretary?"

"Mr. Bryce, George Chandler, my father, and myself."

The conversation was here interrupted by the entrance of Wallace. He looked pale and haggard, as much the effect of anxiety as from the debauch, from which he was recovering.

"She has told you about it, I suppose," said he, in a very low tone.

"She has."

I pitied him, poor fellow, for two thousand dollars was a very large sum for him to accumulate in his little business. The loss of it would make the future look like a desert to him. It would be a misfortune which one must undergo to appreciate it.

"What passed between you on that day?"

"Well, I merely stepped into his office—it was only the day before yesterday—to tell him not to forget to have the money for me to-morrow. He took me into his back office, and as I sat there he said he would get the money ready the next day. He then left me and went to the front office, where I heard him send George out to the bank, to draw a check for two thousand dollars; so I supposed he was going to pay me then."

"What does the clerk say about it?"

"He says Mr. Bryce remarked, when he sent him, that he was going to pay the money."

"Just so."

"And when George came in he went into the front office again, and took the money. Then he came back to me again, and did not offer to pay me the money."

"Had you the note with you?"

"No; now I remember, he said he supposed I had not the note with me, or he would pay it. I told him to come in the next day, and I would have it ready—that was yesterday. When I came to look for the note it could not be found; Annie and I have hunted the house all over."

"You told Bryce so."

"I did. He laughed, and showed his note, with his signature crossed over with ink, and a hole punched through it."

"It is plain, Mr. Wallace, that he paid you the money, as alleged, or he obtained fraudulent possession of the note, and intends to cheat you out of the amount."

"He has never paid me," he replied firmly.

"Then he has obtained fraudulent possession of the note. What sort of a person is that Chandler, who boards with you?"

"A fine young man. Bless you, he would not do anything of that kind."

"I am sure he would not," repeated Annie earnestly.

"How else could Bryce obtain the note but through him? What time does he come home at night?"

"Always at ten time. He never goes out in the evening."

"But, father, he did not come home till ten o'clock the night before you went to Bryce's. He had to stay in the office to post books, or something of that kind."

"How did he get in?"

"He has a night-key."

"I must see Chandler," said I.

"No harm in seeing him," added Mr. Wallace; "I will go for him."

In a few moments he returned with the young man, Chandler, who, in the conversation I had with him, manifested a lively interest in the solution of the mystery, and professed himself ready to do anything to forward my views.

"When did you return to the house on Thursday night?"

"About twelve."

"Twelve," said Annie, "it was no more than ten when I heard you."

"The clock struck twelve as I turned the corner of the street," replied Chandler positively.

"I certainly heard some one in the front room at ten," said Annie, looking with astonishment at those around her.

"We're getting at something," said I. "How did you get in?"

The young man smiled, as he glanced at Annie, and said:

"On arriving at the door I found I had lost my night-key. At that moment a watchman happened along, and I told him my situation. He knew me, and taking a ladder from an unfinished house opposite, placed it against one of the second-story windows, and I entered in that way."

"Good! Now who was it that was heard in the parlor at ten, unless it was Bryce or one of his accomplices? He must have taken the key from you pocket, Mr. Chandler, and stolen the note from the secretary. At any rate I will charge him with the crime, let what may happen. Perhaps he will confess when hard pushed."

Acting upon this thought, I wrote a lawyer's letter—"demand against you," etc.,—which was immediately sent to Mr. Bryce. Cautioning the parties not to speak of the affair, I dismissed them.

Bryce came.

Well, sir, what have you got to say against me?" he asked stiffly.

"A claim on the part of John Wallace for two thousand dollars," I replied, poking over my papers and appearing supremely indifferent.

"Paid it," he said, short as pie crust.

"Have you?" said I, looking him sharply in the eye.

The rascal quailed. I saw that he was a villain.

"Nevertheless, if within an hour you do not pay me two thousand dollars, and one hundred for the trouble and anxiety you have caused my client, at the end of the next half hour you will be lodged in jail to answer a criminal charge."

"What do you mean?"

"I mean what I say. Pay, or take the consequences."

It was a bold charge, and if he had looked like an honest man I should not have dared to make it.

"I have paid the money. I tell you," said he: "I have the note in my possession."

"When did you get it?"

"I got it when I paid the—"

"When you feloniously entered the house of John Wallace, on Thursday night at ten o'clock, and took the said note from the secretary."

"You have no proof," said he, grasping a chair for support.

"That is my lookout. I have no time to waste. Will you pay or go to jail?"

He saw that the evidence I had was against his denial, and he drew his check on the spot for twenty-one hundred dollars, and, after begging me not to mention the affair, he sneaked off.

I cashed the check and hastened to Wallace's house. The reader may judge with what satisfaction he received it, and how rejoiced was Annie and her lover. Wallace insisted that I should take the one hundred for my trouble; but I was magnanimous enough to keep only twenty. Wallace signed the pledge, and was ever after a temperate man. He died a few years ago, leaving a handsome property to Chandler and his wife, the marriage between him and Annie having taken place shortly after the above narrated circumstance occurred.

"A combination and a form indeed,
Where every god did seem to set his seal
To give to the world assurance of a man."
HAMLET.

The Apostle of human liberty, the writer of the Declaration of Independence, and the author of the act of Religious Freedom slumbers beneath the clods of a distant hill. His fame has become the theme of every Virginian, and we willingly join with his native State in hoping that his last desire may be realized, which was that so long as the heights of Monticello shall lift themselves to Heaven—so long may the domes and spires of the University rise in all their majesty of proportion to greet them, forever to dwell together kindred points in the natural landscape and no less kindred points in the American heart; typifying as they stretch forth their arms towards each other the inseparable connection between knowledge and freedom. But let us cease to be influenced by that partial genius which knows but one great man, and refuses to search beyond the confines of a single State for noble deeds; and return to that State from which we are to learn whether or not, her history is destitute of principles on which philosophy may speculate, events and characters over which the muse of history will ever linger with peculiar pleasure. There we select one whose greatness stands out in the dimness of the past like the pyramids of Egypt preeminent over all surrounding objects; that one is Gaston the honored son of Carolina. His fame is not confined to one State, but is national; his history is not limited to his own acts alone, but is connected with that of the period in which he lived, and here we see the force of Carlyle's remark in his "Heroes and Hero Worshippers" that the history of the world is nothing but the history of the great men who have changed the tide of human affairs and shaped the destiny of empires."

Among the many eminent men of North Carolina who have spent a brilliant career in the service of their State, I know not one whose history is more suitable to the study of those who seek for a guidance to an honorable fame than that of William Gaston. By steady and well directed exertions; by diligence and unwavering devotedness to professional business, he acquired an eminence which all may envy, but which few can attain except by the same means.

The name of him who was not willing that the period in which he lived amid the interspace of ages should like the picture of Marino Faliero at Venice, the solitary image in the ancestral gallery of a nation shrouded in shame; who could truly say "I am a man and hold nothing that is human foreign to my sympathies," must be sacred and cherished by all who esteem undoubted talent and real worth combined.

Newbern the home of patriots, around which cluster many reminiscences, justly claims the honor of being the birth place of William Gaston.

His father Dr. Gaston was one of the most decided Whigs of his day, and after spending a short but glorious career in defence of his rights and the principles of equality, fell a victim of the tories. By this misfortune, the education of young Gaston devolved entirely on his mother, but being equal to the task she devoted herself to this object with untiring and affectionate energy, and her efforts to impress those sterling qualities on her son's character which rendered him so peculiarly eminent like woman's exertions generally were attended with triumphant success, and this furnishes one more illustration of the truth, that nothing great and good can be accomplished without the co-operation of woman. In seventeen hundred and ninety one he entered College at Georgetown where he remained until the spring of seventeen hundred and ninety three, when he was forced to abandon his studies on account of severe illness, and for a while those visions of future greatness which ever invite the aspiring youth onward disappeared in succession, as if mendicity was destined to be his fate. But a visit to his native State renewed his health and once more he appeared in the world of letters, and in seventeen hundred and ninety six received his degree with the highest honors of Princeton College. He studied law, and at the age of twenty commenced practicing, but on account of the high appreciation of his talent by his fellow citizens he was not allowed to enjoy the pleasures of his profession and worship at the shrine of legal lore but for a short period, for on arriving at his majority he was elected a member of the State Senate.

In 1808 he was chosen an elector of President and during the same year became a member of the House of Delegates and was chosen Speaker. In this position he presided with that dignity which was so characteristic of his whole life. While a member of the Legislature he delivered some of his noblest and most brilliant speeches, two of which are mentioned with peculiar approbation—one on the currency of the State in 1828, the other in defence of the constitution of North Carolina. Of the latter the following is an extract; it was made on the "thirty second article" in the convention called to amend the State constitution: Sir I am opposed out and out to any interference of the State with the opinions of its citizens and more especially with their opinions on religious subjects. The good order of society requires that actions and practices injurious to the public peace and public morality should be restrained and but a moderate portion of practical good sense is required to enable the proper authorities to decide what conduct is really thus injurious. But to decide on the truth or error, on the salutary or pernicious consequences of opinions requires a skill in dialectics, a keenness of discernment, a forecast and comprehension of mind, and above all an exemption from bias which do not ordinarily belong to human tribunals. The preconceived opinions of him who is appointed to try, becomes the standard by which the opinions of others are to be measured, and as these correspond or differ from his own, they are pronounced true or false, salutary or pernicious. If there be any subject upon which the interference of human power are more forbidden than all others, it is on religion. Even He from whom cometh every pure and perfect gift and to whom religion is directed as its author, its end and exceedingly great reward, imposed no great coercion on his children. They believe or doubt or reject according to the impression which the testimony of revealed truth makes upon their mind. Nothing can be conceived more abhorent from the spirit of true religion than hypocritical pretensions of Kings, Princes, Rulers and Magistrates to uphold her holy cause by their unholy violence."

Fortunate is that country where can be found in every emergency some patriot to check the influence of misguided reason and quell the storm of political discord, that threatens to subvert those principles which constitute the very basis of government and to which every people are indebted for their happiness and prosperity. In the above speech were found those sentiments which will ever characterize the history of those who are competent to appreciate the advantages and influence which are afforded and exerted by those governments where the mind may be "said to revel in its own privileges and powers" and man walks abroad as free as the air that encircles him. In 1813 he was elected to the lower House of Congress and continued there by re-election until he voluntarily retired to the less exciting and more agreeable pursuits of his profession. He was an ardent Federalist and as the acknowledged leader of his party opposed the celebrated loan bill of 1813 in an able and eloquent speech of which the following is the conclusion. "In this question I assuredly have a very deep interest; but it is the interest of a citizen only. My public career, I will not continue long. Should it please the Disposer of events to permit me to see the great interest of the nation confided to men who will secure its rights by firmness, moderation and impartiality, abroad and at home cultivate the arts of peace, encourage honest industry in all its branches, dispose equal justice to all classes of the community and thus administer the goverment in the true spirit of the constitution as a trust for the people and not as the property of a party, it will be to me utterly unimportant by what political ephithet they may be characterized."

Thus spoke one whose qualities as a gentleman, reputation as a statesman and ability as a lawyer, not only placed on his brow fadeless laurels, but also increased the influence of his State in the councils of the nation.

His next great effort in Congress was in 1816 on the motion of Mr. Stanford of N. C., to expunge the previous question from the rules of the House. He was opposed by Clay in one of his many brilliant efforts, and to him in main it rested his reply. After a brief exordium Mr. Gaston proceeded. "I rejoice at the opposition the motion my colleague has encountered. If this rule could have been vindicated we would have received that vindication from the gentleman who has just resumed his seat, Mr. Clay. If his ingenuity and zeal combined could form for the previous question no other defence than that we have heard, the previous question cannot be defended. If beneath his shield it finds so slight a shelter it must fall a victim to the just the the long delayed vengeance of awakened and indignant freedom. If Hector can not defend his Troy the doom of Troy is fixed by fate." This short extract is far from doing justice to Mr. Gaston for my limits will not allow me to present the arguments contained in the above speech which is considered superior to any ever delivered on that subject. In Congress he vindicated his title to powers of argument for these he encountered those whose commanding eloquence assured by many triumphs and glowing with incipient greatness had assumed the bearing of the man "who knew no equal."

To sustain oneself at such a period when statesmen were the combatants, was fame enough for most of those who presented themselves. There was Clay the lightning rod of the nation who had so often rescued the Constitution from the hands of political fanatics and the storm of discord which threatened its ruin. Webster concerning whose patriotism and ability history has but one voice, and Calhoun, the honored son, I might truly say the idol of South Carolina.

Mr. Gaston crossed swords with all the debaters but when he opposed Clay, it was "diamond cut diamond," for the polished eloquence, the easy and fascinating elocution of the one was no unpleasant task to the strong and passionate outburst of the other. He was clear and accurate, keeping his subject steadily in view, only departing from his direct path to bring back beacons to illumine the way. The other luxuriating in an exhuberant imagination and Asiatic fervor of expression. It was the meeting of Cotta and Sulpicius in the Scaevola and like the former Gaston frequently diverted conclusions which Clay could not force.

In this comparison there exist no desire to detract one of those many laurels that adorn the brow of the great Kentuckian and have rendered his name as an orator and patriot immortal, but only take him as a criterion by which to judge the ability of others.

After his retirement from Congress he was for a long time a member of the Legislature of his State. In 1833 he was elevated to the bench of the Supreme Court of North Carolina. On the day of his death January 23, 1845 he took his seat on the bench as usual and remained till near 2 o'clock in the afternoon attending to the business under consideration when he was attacked with faintness and violent symptoms and ere long he bid adieu to earthly things uttering the following as his last "Sentiment." "A belief in an All ruling Divinity who shapes our ends, whose eye is upon us and who will reward us according to our deeds is necessary. We must believe and feel there is a God, Allwise Almighty."

Thus expired one who

"bore without abuse
The grand old name of Gentleman."

As a statesman his fame is not limited to one State for wherever the political history of his country is known his acts are familiar, but if there be any portion of the Union to which his fame is peculiar dear it must be his own State.

While a member of the Legislature his patriotism was not confined to one country or portion of the State but ever kept in view the interest of every section.

As a jurist his decisions says one evince a profound acquaintance with legal science and are ranked by competent authority among the ablest legal arguments in the United States. He did not, like many great men, retire in the evening tide of glory from the hum of the busy world to spend in ease the twilight of their days, but continued to serve his State unwilling to deprive his fellow citizens of those valuable services he was so competent to render. His fame is mingled with his State's History "his epitaph is engraved in the hearts of men."

"Great virtuous modest whose unspotted name
Is stamped in gold upon the rolls of fame
Whose brow is circled by her greenest bays
Part of thy glory still let Carolina claim
For still she loves her noble child always."

His death was to his State a loss of no ordinary magnitude and well may she mourn over the departure of another one of her brightest ornaments. All saw in him a loftiness of principle which knew no compromise, a love of justice and the law. But let us not dwell upon his distinguished talents, his virtues and active benevolence exhausting itself in good deeds and "blushing to find it fame, for there breathes through his whole life such a spirit of goodness, combined with greatness that we instinctively bow in homage to his superior excellences. We may apply to him the words of Mornay du Plessis on the death of his noble and attached friend Languet; "He was in reality what many wish to appear to be; he lived as the best of men should die."

Such from the emotion of the heart the lips will speak, was William Gaston.

Statesman—yet friend to truth of soul sincere
Of action faithful and in honor clear;
Who broke no promise, served no private end
Who gained no title and who lost no friend;
Ennobled by himself by all approved,
Praised wept, and honored by the land he loved.

A FEW FACTS FOR OUR NORTHERN FRIENDS.

The true and right feeling people of North Carolina fully appreciate the fact that they need more of the Northern element among them—the enterprize, the industry and the intelligent skill that characterize the Northern people, and they desire to have them. Our people confess that they are "behind the age," and they are fast becoming willing to learn. They feel that with their lack of knowledge they lack the means—that our vast resources never can be fully developed without additional population and capital.

Emerging from the terrible conflict that laid waste the entire Southern country, the people were left not only poor but comparatively helpless. Few can realize their condition. Considering the disadvantages, the want of experience and the loss of means, they have accomplished as much, perhaps, as ought to have been expected. Many acres of the land that was abandoned has been redeemed, new homes have been erected on the sites of former ones destroyed, and hope and confidence have enthroned themselves where the dark demon of Despair seemed to rule supreme. Acquiescing in the new order of things and accepting the situation, they are now encouraging, cultivating and improving the auxiliaries of peace,—anxious, we repeat, that the industrious, intelligent and skilful farmers and manufacturers of the North should come, settle down and henceforth be "one of them" as citizens, as neighbors and as friends.

North Carolina is, naturally, a rich State. She has sources of wealth and strength scarce appreciated or known by her own people, much less by those abroad. Her lands are suited to all the kinds of grain and grasses and to all the varieties of fruits and vegetables that can be raised in the North or the West, and most of these to greater advantage because of her longer seasons. Her rivers and bays and harbors are unsurpassed. Her climate is as healthful as any, and so temperate that in mid-winter as well as in summer, her tides of trades flow on unobstructed—her canals and rivers giving no heed to the seasons. These, in the North, are frozen up at least three months of every year. Here they are always open for business.

Hitherto the advantages of North Carolina have been too little understood by the people of the North. Because of their non-acquaintance with the attractions and superior advantages of the Southern States, and especially the inducements offered by North Carolina, immigration has been Westward. It is a mistake. We know it, and hence feel it our duty as a Northern man and a public journalist to do what we can to correct it.

We want no drones, nor do we want any who make politics a trade. There is no room for any such. But we do want men of industry, energy, character and public spirit. We want their example, we desire their influence and, we confess it, we need their capital—judiciously invested to develop and build up this great and beautiful country. We want and will welcome these as co-workers and fellow citizens. They will not only help us, but they can benefit themselves by coming here. Hundreds have already settled among us. We have room for thousands more. To those in the North, especially in Pennsylvania, New York and New Jersey, who wish to seek new homes and new fields for the profitable investment of capital, we earnestly recommend Eastern North Carolina. Come and see us, and then decide the question of purchase and settlement afterward.

In this age of Intelligence it won't do for public journalists to ignore facts and arguments. Objection and denunciation are not substitutes. They do not controvert. They do not supply the place of reason. Nor is passion and vengeance calculated to instruct or edefy the people. The late war and all its sad consequences are the fruits of what was conceived and conducted in hatred and denunciation and the wildest passion. It is time all this ceased. It is the demand of the times that those who inaugurated the "wild dance of secession" and deluged the country in fraternal blood now take back seats. The people are tired of strife. They are sick of the teachings of passionate newspapers and the actions of that class of public men who are bent on embarrassing the government by opposing the measures deemed necessary to give peace to the country.

The Democracy have lost ground in every State election that has been held since the "New Departure" was promulgated.

IMPORTANT FACTS.

The following important facts, gleaned from the recent speech of Hon. Columbus Delano at a Republican meeting in Ohio, should be committed to memory, and used as arguments in favor of continuing the present National Administration in power another term, by every Republican in the United States. The comparison between the administration of Johnson and that of Grant, in respect to financial ability, economy and faithful performance of duty, is strongly in favor of the latter, and cannot fail to attract and rivet public attention. We give the facts as presented by Mr. Delano:

I. Receipts from Internal Revenue. During 1868, President Johnson's administration, which was anti-Republican, had full control of all branches of the government, and the entire receipts from internal revenue sources were $191,180,534,-28.

When President Grant's administration came into power a new tax bill went into effect, by which the tax on spirits was reduced from two dollars to fifty cents, the tax on tobacco from forty to thirty-two cents, and over one hundred other articles including cotton, boots and shoes, clothing, leather, soap, sugar, etc., put on the free list, thereby reducing taxation $78,000,000. And yet the receipts from internal revenue, during the first fiscal year of President Grant's administration were $185,235,867,97, which would be a saving to the country of $72,000,000. Thirteen million dollars were saved in tobacco alone, although the tax had been reduced from forty to thirty-two and sixteen cents.

II. The expenses of the Revenue Bureax under President Johnson were, in round numbers, $8,000,000, while, under the first fiscal year of Grant's administration they were reduced to $5,000,000.

III. The receipts from Customs. In no department are the honesty and economy of the present administration more conspicuous than in the collection of the revenue from customs. Although Secretary Delano gives the exact figures, for convenience we will simply state the round numbers. During the fiscal years 1867 and 1868 the total receipts from customs were $340,000,000. During the first two fiscal years of the present administration the total receipts from the same were $400,000,000, being a net gain of $60,000,000 from the same source.

IV. Total Receipts and Expenditures. For the two years ending March 1, 1869, the total net receipts were $664,000,000. During the two years of the present administration, ending March 1, 1871, the total net receipts were $749,000,000, This shows an increase of the revenue amounting the $85,000,000. All this was saved although, as before stated, taxation was reduced $78,000,000.

The expenditures for the last two years of President Johnson's reign were $450,-000,000, but during the first two years of Grant's rule, ending March 1, 1871, the expenditures were $323,000,000, being a net gain of $127,000,000. In other words, President Grant has received $85,000,000 more and spent $127,000,000 less than President Johnson, making a total gain to the government of $212,000,000.

THE DOMESTIC LIFE OF THOMAS JEFFERSON. Compiled from family Letters and Remenlescences by his Great Grand Daughter, Sarah N. Randolph, with Illustrations, New York. Harper & Brothers. Price $2,50.

We have read this handsome volume with much interest. It is a valuable acquisition to American history. It brings to the public observation many most interesting incidents in the life of the third President; and the times and men of the Republic's beginnings are here portrayed in a glowing and genial light. The author, in referring to the death-scenes of Jefferson, reports sentiments from his lips which contradict the current opinion that the writer of the Declaration of Independence was an infidel. We are glad to make this record in behalf of truth. Young people would find this book both entertaining and instructive. Its style is fresh and compact. Its pages are full of tender memories. The great man whose career is so charmingly pictured belongs to us all.

From this book we become acquainted with Jefferson as he was, both as man, citizen, husband, father and neighbor—the man, in short, as he lived in the eyes of his relatives, his closest friends, and his most intimate associates. It ought to find a place in every man's library.

We not only want more and better farmers in this part of the South but we also want skilled artisans. We want more corn and wheat raised, but instead of sending these off to fill the ten thousand mouths in other cities and States, let us encourage those mouths to come and settle in the neighborhood of our wheat and cornfields. We want manufactories. These make more labor. Increase of population make more employment for the laboring man, more work for the mechanic, more busines for the merchant, and a better market for the farmer.

The Federal Court at Raleigh.

FOURTH DAY.

Court again met on the 16th. The trial of Andrew Shotwell and others charged with conspiring to deprive James M. Justice, of Rutherford county, of the natural rights of a lawful citizen, as to the privilege of franchise, and on the 10th day of June, 1871, attempting to hurt and intimidate Mr. Justice by beating his body and otherwise brutally maltreating him, began. United States District Attorney Starbuck, assisted by Hon. Samuel F. Phillips, and Virgil Lusk, Esq., appeared as prosecutors in this case.

Ex-Gov. Bragg, Messrs. G. V. Strong, D. G. Fowle, Plato Durham, H. D. Lee, and J. S. Carson appeared as counsel for the defendants.

The day was occupied in arguing a motion of the defense to quash the Venire, but on hearing argument the Court refused to do so.

FIFTH DAY.

On Monday Sept 11 the Court met at the appointed hour. The question being raised, the Court decided that each prisoner would be allowed ten challenges, and that the District Attorney should have the right to severance; whereupon the counsel for defense wanted the right to ten peremptory challenges for each defendant, and, agreeing to a joint trial, asked the Court to allow more than ten challenges.

The Court stated that it did not feel authorized to exceed the number of ten.

The prisoners were then ordered to be brought to the bar, and in a few moments they entered the court room, under guard of assistant U. S. Marshals. Shotwell, the first in the bill of indictment, is a man of about thirty years of age; he is tall, well built, but of a sallow complexion. He recently edited a Democratic newspaper called The Citizen, in Ashville, Buncombe county.

The following named persons were impanelled to try the case of the United States vs. R. A. Shotwell and others, viz: J. W. Bell, Joseph Ward, Madison Pace, Geo. W. Charles, B. F. Beckerdite, Jesse F. Grubbs, Joseph Motsinger, Edward Teasley, James Smith, W. P. Wethcrell.

Mr. Phillips then addsessed the Jury for the government. He summed up by saying: We expect to provs that Randolph Shotwell conspired with and guided a desperate body of men to the residence of James M. Justice for the purpose of beating and killing him—that the death of Mr. Justice was only prevented by the interference of a man from South Carolina, who, however, belonged to this body of desperadoes. Until all combinations of this sort are put down we can expect nothing but trouble and bloodshed.

The first witness called was J. M. Justice, who during a lengthy examination, stated how he was dragged from his bed on the night of the 11th of June by disguised men whose faces were covered with something red, and mouths and eyes were bound and covered with something white, how he was struck, maltreated and threatened with death. He recognized Shotwell and others among the crowd.

J. R. Depriest was next examined. He testified to the oath of the "Invisible Empire. That it had been administered to him by the prisoner Shotwell; that Shotwell was the Commander of the County of Rutherford; that the object of the said organization, was to assist the Democratic party; and its members were obliged to obey all orders lawful or unlawful.

J. W. Jolley was next called. He too was a member of the Invisible Empire. Had been on several raids; was present at the outrage on J. M. Justice. Randolph Shotwell was there. I knew him and shook hands with him. He said Jim Justice must be hung that night, and asked who would pull the rope. Some one answered, "no we must shoot him." We then rode on. I did not go into the town. I understood we were all under Shotwell's command.

Alfred Harris testified that he belonged to "Horse Creek Den." Spartansburg, S. C. I have been on about three raids. Was in the raid on Rutherfordton. I have raided on colored men and whipped them. The business of our Night Hawks was to go around and call the meetings. The Chief of my den told me he had orders from Randolph Shotwell to get all the men together that he could, for the purpose of killing James Justice and Aaron Biggerstaff, and to tear up the Star office. Our reason for raiding on Justice was because he was a republican and had said in a speech that the Ku Klux ought to be hung. We had orders to meet in an old field on the Saturday before the Sunday when Justice was taken out. Judge Edwards called for volunteers, and seven or eight stepped out. We had to do what we were ordered to do when we went on raids—whether lawful or unlawful. On the way to Rutherfordton we met or overtook Othello Martin, R. P. Scrugs, Jonas Vassit, Judge Edwards, King Edwards, Swan Parish and Wm. Webster. We stopped at the widow Cox's shop. I did not know Randolph Shotwell, but heard his name called that night—was told that he was Grand Chief of Randolph county. I went with the raiders into town. Randolph Shotwell led us. I was told by the crowd it was him. He led us up to James Justice's gate and told us how to enter the bedroom. He did not go up stairs himself. I staid at the gate. Heard them knock down the door, and afterwards heard Mr. Justice begging for his life. They dragged him down the steps. They cursed him and told him to hush when he begged, and I heard one say. "God damn you, we are going to kill you." We then went out the Shelby road. I staid behind the crowd a while. When I got up with them they were going to kill him for being a Republican.

Thomas Tate also testified that Shot well, on the night of the raid said "we must kill Justice and demolish the Star Office to night."

SIXTH DAY.

On Tuesday Sept., 19th, the Court again met. The day was occupied in examining J. H. Withern, J. T. Downey and Julius Fortune who testified to horrible outrages committed by the "Invisible Empire" or Ku Klux Klan.

This closed the examination of witnesses for the United States.

Mr. Fuller for the defense, stated that they did not intend to introduce any witnesses, and therefore claimed the opening and concluding arguments.

This privilege the Court granted.

The defense was then opened by Mr. Fuller. His line of argument first was that there was no Constitutional authority to maintain a bill of indictment like the one just tried—that the authority of the United States did not extend to individuals in any case—that the United States only had a right to deal States as political bodies, vide Cooley on Constitutional limitation. He asserted that these Ku Klux cases, or the trial of them, belonged to the Supreme Court of the United States.

Marcus Erwen Esq., replied for the Government in a very able argument.

SEVENTH DAY.

On Wednesday Sept., 20, when Court reconvened Mr. Phillips, Assistant District Attorney, concluded the argument for the prosecution in the Shotwell case. The argument of Mr. Phillips was very elaborate as to points of law brought into question by the defense, and was closed by a lucid and forcible recapitulation of the testimony.

G. V. Strong, Esq., closed for the defense, occupying about four hours time.

Judge Bond then charged the Jury as follows:

GENTLEMEN OF THE JURY: Now that the evidence on the part of the United States is closed, and the defendants have declined to offer any testimony, and after the patient attention which you have given, both to the witnesses and the counsel, it is our duty to give you some directions to guide you in making up your verdict. And first, gentlemen, you are free from all difficulty respecting the construction of the act of Congress under which this indictment has been drawn and which has been so frequently read or quoted to you during the trial, for the Court charges you that so far as the act of Congress, approved April 20, 1871, is concerned, it is in accordance with the Constitution of the United States, and you, as well as we, are bound to respect and enforce it.

These parties are charged in three counts with a conspiracy, which is an agreement on the part of two or more persons to do an unlawful thing, or to do a lawful thing in an unlawful way. They are charged first with conspiring to deprive James M. Justice of his right to vote for a member of Congress, and secondly with conspiring to beat him for having advocated and supported the election of a certain person as a member of the House of Representatives, and thirdly with conspiring to hinder the execution of a law of the United States, which is specified to be the act approved May 31, 1870, and the first section thereof. In the opinion of the Court, and it so charges you, there has been no time since the adoption of the Constitution of the United States that Congress has not had the power to punish all who obstructed, either by intimdation or force, voters at the election of its own members, or the offices of the national government. Any argument to the contrary which the defense have to make in addition to that already offered, the Court will hear, upon a motion to arrest judgement, should that be necessary. It is not for you to consider.

The offense charged is a conspiracy. It is not the assault or actual beating and injury that constitute the crime. These are the mere results of the conspiracy. These are the conspiracy in motion. The offense is complete when two or more persons confederate and agree with the intent set out in the indictment, and all who consent and agree are guilty of the couspiracy. Those who actually engage in carrying out what has been agreed upon; those who effect the intimidation or beating, or actually use the force to hinder the execution of the law, are not more guilty of the conspiracy than those who, though not actually present, agreed, confederated and consented together to have the unlawful result accomplished.

The witnesses on the part of the government, who took part in this crime, allege it to have been committed to punish James M. Justice for his political course, and Mr. Justice states to you that those who committed the assault upon him told him that they beat him and were about to hang him for the same cause. He states to you what that political course had been, and a prominent part of it was his support and advocacy, both by his voice and vote, of a certain person for Representative in Congress. If you believe this was the fact, and that for this as well as other political acts, then the crime charged in the first two counts of the indictment is complete, and if you believe, from the evidence, what is stated, in addition, by Mr. Justice, that he was only released upon promise to abandon that political course, and from voting as he pleased for federal officers thereafter, then the parties who entered into this conspiracy are guilty of all the counts in the indictment. It is necessary, however, after you have found the crime charged was committed, that you find from the evidence whether or not the parties at the bar are the parties, not who actually committed the assault, but who entered into the conspiracy to have it committed. The witnesses are mostly accomplices, but a jury, though it ought to be careful about it, may and sometimes ought to convict upon the testimony of one accomplice. If you believe these accomplices and find them in addition corroboratad by other witnesses or circumstances you may as readily convict upon their testimony as any other. Who the guilty parties are is a mere question of fact which it is no part of the province of the Court to determine. That remains your duty to discover from the evidence.

In conclusion, gentlemen, the Court cannot refrain from commending this case to your most serious attention. In a long experience upon the bench we have never seen a case which presented, if the witnesses speak truly facts, of such unprovoked wickedness and brutality. In most cases heretofore tried before the Courts attempts at murder had either ill-will or plunder for a motive. But this case is singular in its enormity, in this, that some seven or eight witnesses have stated in a Court of justice, upon oath, that they themselves went in disguise upon an expedition to murder a neighbor of highly respectable character in the dead hour of the night, toward whom they had no ill will, who had never wronged them, and whose property they had no desire to steal. They state they dragged him from the side of his sleeping wife out in a fearful storm where they would have killed him had not a co-conspirater's heart relented at the critical moment, and he a stranger. And why gentlemen? Not from personal malice or ill will but because they were ordered to do so.

Gentlemen, if you find these facts from the evidence to be true, and if it be true they cannot be puuished, I tell you solemnly there is no security for our lives in North Carolina. You are in the hands of banditti. The law is a mockery and the Courts might just as well be closed.

As you find the truth to be from the evidence, the jury may bring in a general verdict of guilty as to all the parties or not guilty as to all, or they may find some of the parties guilty and others not guilty. You have nothing to do with the punishment of these parties, and it ought not to be alluded to by counsel. The act of Congress gives the Court large discretion from mere fine to imprisonment, and that matter is entirely in its discretion and should have no weight with you."

The Jury returned a verdictof GUILTY as to Randolph Shotwell, Adolphus Depriest, Amos Owens, George Holland, Wm. McIntyre, Wm. Teal, David Collins, William Scrugs. Not guilty as to F. A. Shotwell, Calvin Teal, and Wm. Tanner; but these three are held on another bill—an indictment for demolishing the Star printing office in Rutherfordton.

The hour being very late, the Court adjourned without passing sentence on the convicted prisoners.

EIGHTH DAY.

On Thursday judgement on the prisoners convicted on Wednesday was suspended till Friday morning.

The District Attorney stated to the Court that there would be no need of a jury this day, and the jury was consequently discharged.

In the case of the United States against William Robinson and others—an indictment for a conspiracy to deprive certain voters of the right of franchise—the witnesses were called and bound over to next term; capias to issue for defendants

Several other cases were also continued.

NINTH DAY.

On Friday morning Assistant District Attorney Phillips prayed judgement according to notice, on the prisoners at the bar.

The Court instructed the Marshal to remove the prisoners to an adjoining room and bring them in singly, as called for.

The first prisoner called was Randolph Shotwell. He entered and advanced firmly, betraying little or no emotion, and, dropping his hat on the floor sat down in a chair which had been placed near the centre of the room. His face, however was very pale, and his eyes became restless.

A deep silence pervaded the chamber, and all eyes were intensely directed towards Shotwell.

Mr. Fuller, as counsel for the defendant, arose and addressed the Court in behalf of the prisoner, in very affecting terms, praying for him as light a punishment as the mercy of the Court could extend.

Judge Brooks then occupied nearly an hour in remarks, which we have not time or space for in this issue of our paper, but will publish fully in our next.

Judge Bond proceeded to pass the sentence of the Court, first on R. A. Shotwell. His Honor said, "You, according to the evidence before the Court, are the most guilty man of all this party. You pointed out to these ruffians, in the dead hour of the night, the way to Justice's house, whence he was dragged from the side of his innocent wife, and so brutally treated. The mercy asked for you we feel for your aged parent. The judgment of the Court is that you be imprisoned at hard labor for six years, and that you be fined five thousand dollars. Marshal, take the prisoner into custody."

The remainder of the prisoners were sentenced as follows, viz: Amos Owens, imprisonment at hard labor for six years, and fine of five thousand dollars; Adolphus Depriest, imprisonment at hard labor for two years and fine of five hundred dollars; George Holland, imprisonment for two years at hard labor and fine of five hundred dollars; Wm. McIntyre, imprisonment for two years at hard labor and fine of five hundred dollars; David Collins, imprisonment for four years and fine of five hundred dollars; Wm. Scrugs, imprisonment for three years at hard labor and fine of five hundred dollars; Spencer K. Moore, imprisonment for six months; D. B. Fortune imprisonment for six months.

The prisoners will be sent to the State's prison of New York, situated at Albany.

The above synopsis is made from the elaborate report published by the Era—[ED.]

Two years ago Irene Robison, aged nineteen years, suddenly left her home and friends in Peoria, Ill. Nothing was heard from her since, and her friends had given her up as lost long ago. She was to be married by her father against her will to a man she did not love, and that was her reason for leaving. Last night she was found New York city dressed in boy's clothing. She surrendered to the police, saying she was tired and wanted to go home. She had assumed the name of William Frank, had worked as a teamster, laborer and canal-boatman, she was last on a canal boat at Troy.

Some women arranging for a funeral in Virginia City, Nevada, recently, were refused any money for expenses by the dead woman's husband, and, knowing his weakness, at once plied him with brandy and laudanum until he was senseless as the corpse. Then they took the money from his pocket, and pushed him out of tho way until services were over.

[ESTABLISHED 1848]

To the Farmers and Planters of Maryland and the South generally.

HORNER'S MARYLAND SUPER-PHOSPHATE.

WE COURT THE CHEMIST'S INQUIRY.

After 23 years' experience in the Fertilizing business, and after establishing a wide reputation for the purity and excellence of this Bone Dust, the subscriber has been induced to prepare a Phosphate suitable to the requirements and everyway worthy the attention of the Southern Farmer.

The "Maryland" is a rejuvinator and permanent improver of the soil. It stimulates equal to Peruvian Guano, and sustains equal to Bone, being composed almost entirely of these ingredients, with a very liberal percentage of Potash in the residuum. There is no adulterator or inferior article used—every particle of the Phosphate being of essential benefit to the land. Neither pains nor expense have been spared in its preparation, and we claim for it the greatest benefit to the farmer from the smallest outlay. For cotton, wheat, corn, and as a general stimulant and aliment for worn and impoverished land, there can be nothing superior. It is waranted to run as high in Ammonia and higher in Bone Phosphate than any other fertilizer in the market. Price $50 per ton, in new bags. No charge for delivery. JOSHUA HORNER, Jr.

THIS WEEK'S ADVERTISEMENTS.

We call attention to the following new advertisement in th is iss.
New York advertisements.
Grant, Mann & Co., of Norfolk.
Joshua Horner Jr., of Baltimore.
M. Umstadter & Co., of Norfolk.
Jones Farm of Perquimans county.
Soap advertisement of Delapierre & Co
Episcopal Convention of Baltimore.

Local and Personal.

☞ "A True Story," will appear next week.

☞ Hon. C. C. POOL and family have returned from New-port.

☞ Hon. C. L. COBB has returned from Nag's Head.

☞ A number of new and important advertisements this week.

☞ We learn that Elder JOHN WILLIAMS, of Edenton, has resigned his connection with the A. M. E. Zion Church.

☞ On our fourth page this week will be found about a dozen receipts. Each of which are worth a years subscription to the NORTH CAROLINIAN.

☞ Dr. FULLER is improving his property, known as the "Laverty lot." He is grading a street through it and draining the Northern portion of it by cutting open a canal.

☞ The President of the North Carolina Agricultural Society will accept our thanks for a complimentary ticket to the Fair of 1871. The Fair will be held at Raleigh on the 17th, 18th and 19th of October.

☞ Dr. WM. NICHOLSON of Lawrence, Kansas, formerly of Belvidere this State, will accept our thanks for copies of the "Journal of the General Council of the Indian Territory" at Okmulgee, with the "Second Annual Report of the Associated Executive Committee of Friends on Indian Affairs."

☞ A young correspondent submits the following and we heartily endorse the sentiment:

It is an acknowledged fact, that a person who is guilty of spitting tobacco juice upon the floor of the house of God, during worship, does not expec-to-rate as a gentleman.

☞ In reply to "D. A. P." we would say that metalic arsenic is used in lead for making shot to give greater fluidity to the melted metal. The fine iron castings known as Berlin iron, noted for their sharpness of finish, are said to owe their excellence to a small portion of arsenic which causes the metal to flow into every line and crevice of the mold.

☞ The colored men of this District have called a Convention to be held at Edenton on the 5th of October to appoint a Delegate to the National Colored Convention to be held at Columbia, S. C., on the 18th of the same month. The object of this National Convention is said to be "to demand a more practical understanding and mutual co-operation, to the end that a more thorough Union of effort, action and organization may exist among the Colored people of the Southern States."

☞ Our townsman GEO. W. CHARLES, Esq., has been spending the past two weeks at Raleigh, subpœned as a juror in the Federal Court to try the Ku Klux cases. By the synopsis of the proceedings in another column of the NORTH CAROLINIAN it will be seen that the jury brought in a verdict of guilty, and that the sentence of the Court is a severe one. Let it be a warning to evil doers. Let them understand that the law can be and will be enforced in North Carolina; that henceforth those who go about in disguise and break open peoples houses and take men out and scourge them will do so at their peril! In our next issue we will publish the pointed rejoinder of Judge BROOKS to the appeal of the prisoners for mercy. Most forcibly did he call to their remembrance that grand old couplet:

"Lord! that mercy I to others show.
That mercy show to me."

☞ We have received numerous inquiries respecting the new Democratic paper movement—whether it will be established, and the probabilities of its paying as a business investment. As before stated we would be glad to have another well conducted paper here. It would not only be gratifying to our city pride, but it would benefit us by helping to stimulate the people up to a spirit of better sustaining newspapers. But, seriously, as a stock enterprize we do not believe the thing will succeed. In the first place, too few seem to have money—and they are not willing if they had—to invest in newspaper stock. And should it ever get started, another trouble will arise. Each subscriber to the funds will think that he should control it, and each section of native talent will want his lamp to illuminate it without the trouble or expense of keeping it trimmed. If refused, he will grow cold, and jealous and "cuss" things generally. Nor is this all. It requires talent, and good judgement and experience to conduct a newspaper. This native talent no doubt exists, but the labor of cutting and polishing a diamond is nothing to that of rubbing talent out of the rough block where interest does not lubricate it. It is said that several of the editors on the staff of the Chicago Tribune receive $5.500 each. For how much less can native talent live on in Elizabeth City? If started the paper might be ran through the first politica compaign, but then would come a relapse and fresh demands for money from each stockholder to keep it going. We have seen the matter tried too often. If the Democrats of this District want a paper they must purchase the material and the Press and make a present of them to some active young man who has the requisite qualifications—a good writer and an active business tact—and tell him to "go it." They ought to do this. If they are in earnest they will do it.

☞ Our Devil says he won't believe anything of a lady's kiss unless he can have it from her own mouth. What an incredulous "spark" he is, to be sure.

☞ To the inquiring of our Kitty Hawk correspondent we answer No. The Constitution expressly declares that the poll tax shall not exceed Two Dollars.

☞ The music of the trowel, the hammer and the saw is still heard during the working hours of the day—their merry ring resounding all over the city. The spirit of improvement is kept up and the future is auspicious.

☞ By a letter received from Antigua by our townsman WM. SHANNON, which he has kindly handed to us, we learn that the Island was visited on the 21st ult, by the most terrific Hurricane ever experienced there, destroying life and property to a fearful extent.

☞ Hon. GEO. W. BROOKS returned home on Tuesday evening. What has become of the crowd that, on a former arrival, threw up their hats and gave him such a pompous ovation? Can "our Senator" explain the sullen silence of those demonstrative gentlemen, himself included?

LOCAL PORT-FOLIO.

Matrimonial coupons—babies. A blush is like a little girl—because it becomes a woman. A grain of sand in the eye is like a School Master's bird—because it hurts the pupil. A butter fly is like a kiss—when it alights on tulips (too lips.) Abundant and cheap—scouppernong grapes. In market—chinkapins. Beginning to appear—"autumnal tints." A paper that takes—a sheriff's warrant. Going to pot—spring chickens.—Charming—the weather. Winding up—the season at Nag's Head. Beginning to revive—business. Busy—the cotton pickers. Good—the corn crop. Nearly finished—the brick work on Sheriff Wood's new building. Coming back—our visitor's from the watering places. Read them—the new advertisements. Just the thing—the new Stationary at Dr. Krebs & Co's., "Drug Emporium."

Business Locals.

A large and splendid stock of new goods has been received during this week at the Drug Emporium of Dr. D. T. Krebs & Co. Call and see for yourselves the great reduction in prices.

One hundred tons of stone coal—both Egg and Stove—will arrive this week at the Land and Lumber Company's wharf. Now is the time to lay in the Winter supply.

The greatest wonder of the day! Washing made easy in cold water by using the "Cold Water Soap." Sold only at the Drug Emporium of Dr. D. T. Krebs & Co.

Old papers for sale at this office. Price 75 cents by single hundred, or 50 cents a hundred if five or more hundred are taken.

Arriving this week from the Northern cities the largest stock of Merchantdise at the Store of the Land a Lumber Company ever brought to Elizabeth City. All at prices as cheap as the cheapest.

M. Umstadter & Co., of Norfolk, are prepared to offer great inducements to their customers in their Fall and winter Stock. See their advertisement.

Guess who is the neatest housekeeper in our town? We know her. She cleans her knives, china, windows, paint, oil cloths, tables and floors, and brightens her tin, brass and copper wares with Enoch Morgan's Sons, Sapolio. Ask for it. It is a good thing.

A splendid assortment of Stationary at the Drug Emporium of Dr. D. T. Krebs & Co.

See the New Advertisement of Grant Man & Co., of Norfolk. Theirs is one of the largest and best Furniture house in the South.

If your "deeds are not evil" and you prefer light to darkness go to the Drug Emporium of Dr. D. T. Krebs & Co., and buy a cheap and late style lamp.

Gov. Stewart, of Vermont, is receiving the congratulations of his friends, regardless of party, two diminutive members having been added to his family on Sunday morning last.

Texas papers report that the United States army officer having them in his possession has refused to deliver up to the State judicial authorities the two Indian Chiefs captured by Gen. Sherman.

Citizens of New-Orleans say the Summer just closed has been the most tedious ever experienced there, the heat being prolonged and unprecedented. The health of the city has been good, notwithstanding.

Richmond, Va., merchants justly complain because a vessel from Nova Scotia, which had a freight list amounting to only $350, was charged $175 for pilotage by the pilot of Hampton Roads. The Captain employed a tug, and the pilot came on board and went to sleep.

An exchange says: "Among those preparing for the expected tidal wave at New Orleans is an old negress. Around a huge iron kettle she has constructed a raft of hen croops. Seated in the kettle she expects to float away when the tide comes in, and save her chickens as well."

The Baltimore American mocks the miseries of Democracy. It calls the anti-departurists "the men who heroically stick in the mud." The Commercial Advertiser suggests they are not much worse off than those newly risen from the mire, since the latter refuse to change their garments and yet cannot wash out the mud stains upon them."

Mrs. Cynthia Jones, wife of a Justice of the Peace, in Kingston, Luzerne County, Penn., died a few days ago, after living as a recluse for more than thirty years. Her child died in 1840, and morbid grief at her loss caused her to avoid her friends. Since that time she had been but three times out of her house, until 1865, when a freshet swept through the valley, and she was removed and carried across the street to a higher level. For the last eighteen years, with this exception, she has not crossed the threshold.

DEATHS.

WATERS.—Near this place on the 23rd inst. Mrs. CAROLINE WATERS, wife of Capt. SAMUEL WATERS, aged 53 years, and 9 months. Mrs. WATERS was an excellent woman, quiet and unobtrusive in her manners, and much esteemed by all who knew her. For a number of years in Pennsylvania her health had been delicate, but during the first year of her residence here it was manifestly improved—so much so that her friends had hope of her ultimate restoration. But for some months past she had not been so well. About three weeks ago she was attached with acute inflammation of the liver, which, aggravating her other diseases, resulted fatally on Saturday last. Her funeral took place on Sabbath afternoon. An impressive sermon was delivered by Dr. WM. UNDERWOOD. Her remains were followed to the Cemetery by a large concourse of sympathising friends and neighbors.

WOODLEY.—At Pendleton's Hotel, this City, on the 25th inst. Mr. ANDERSON WOODLEY, of Perquimans county aged about 35 years.

SPECIAL NOTICES.

EXUBEBERANT HEALTH is a blessing vouchsafed to few. Even those who have been favored by nature with strong constitutions and vigorous frames are apt to neglect the precautions necessary to preserve these precious endowments. Indeed, as a rule, the more healthy and robust a man is, the more liberties he is inclined to take with his own physique. It is some consolation to the naturally weak and feeble to know that they can be so invigorated and built up by a proper use of the means which science has placed at their disposal, as to have a much better chance of long life, and exemptions from disease and pain, than the most athletic of their fellows who are foolish enough to suppose themselves invulnerable, and act accordingly.

It is not too much to say that more than half the people of the civilized world need an occasional tonic, to enable them to support the strain upon their bodies and minds, which the fast life of this restless age occasions. In fact, a pure, wholesome, unexciting tonic is the grand desideratum of the busy millions, and they have the article in Hostetter's Stomach Bitters. It is a staminal medicine, i. e. it imparts permanent strength to weak systems and invigorates delicate constitutions. Its reputation and its sales have steadily increased. Competitive preparations have been introduced ad libitum, and, as far as the public is concerned ad nauseam, in the hope of rivaling it; but they have all either perished in the attempt, or been left far in the rear. It has been the great medical success of the present century, and it is quite certain that no proprietary medicine in this country is as widely known, or as generally used.

Ten lightning presses, running incessantly (Sundays excepted,) the whole year through, barely supply the demand for the Illustrated Almanac, in which the nature and uses of the preparation are set forth. The circulation now being over eight millions o year.

SOUTHERN CLAIMS

AGAINST

THE UNITED STATES GOVERNMENT.

Loyal citizens of North Carolina and other Southern States, will be pleased to learn that Congress at the last session passed a law for a commission to be appointed to examine and report on all claims that may be presented to them for Quartermaster and Commissary stores furnished the Federal Army during the late war.

The undersigned are prepared to furnish blanks, and give all information to those having claims—and to prosecute the same to final settlement. Having received the endorsement for ability, &c., from the Hon. Senators Messrs. Pool and Abbott and the Representatives from North Carolina—we believe that we can give satisfaction to all who entrust their claims to us.

AGRICULTURAL, HORTICULTURAL AND DOMESTIC MATTERS.

New Remedy for the Peach-Borer.

Mr. M. B. Batcham, of Painesville, O., writes as follows in the American Agriculturist:

"I have received several letters asking for more particulars respecting the use of carbolic soap as a remedy for the peach-borer. A correspondent in Southern Tennessee wishes to know the capacity of a 'barrel,' or how many gallons of water I use for 6 pounds of soap. My answer is about thirty gallons—a little more or less is not material. But for small or young trees, the strength of the liquid should not be so great as it might flow down and injure small roots. I would say eight or ten gallons of water to a pound of the soap. For bearing trees, five or six years planted, I have discovered no injury to the roots from a pound of soap to six gallons of water;

It may be necessary to apply this remedy earlier in the season at the South—say the middle of June—then again in August, if the fly continues to deposit eggs until that time. I am confident that this remedy will prove effectual both for the peach and apple-borers; and hence be of immense benefit to orchardists and cultivators generally throughout the country."

To Clean Wall Paper.

Minnie, who is her father's housekeeper at "Prairie Home," is in despair about the condition of the once handsome wall paper. The paper is comparativety new, but is much soiled. She asks how she shall clean it.

Moisten fresh, dry calcined magnesia with pure benzola, and cork it for use. Rub this on fresh grease spots, and they will flee at once. If they are of long standing, spread the paste on the spot and leave it till the benzole evaporates, then remove the mass carefully with a paper-knife, so as not to scratch the surface, and brush the magnesia away with a nice dry brush. With this preparation paper, parchment, ivory, kid, silk, and woolen can be cleaned so as to look like new. Wash fabrics that will bear it with water to remove the last of the magnesia. Silk and wall paper should be sponged with ether.

FRUIT STAINS.—Mrs. E. G. F. desires to know why some one who has been troubled about fruit stains, &c., on children's clothes, and who has worked her way out, don't come to the rescue of despairing bodies like herself, and tell them what to do to remove the stains. Solution of Chlorida of Soda will remove peach and all fruit stains, vegetable stains, grass stains, &c., from white cotton or linen. One application will answer. Applied several times the solution will remove mildew stains. The fabric should be well rinsed in clear water immediately after using.

HOW TO PRESERVE SMOKED MEATS.—Take ground black pepper, the finer the better; wash all the mold or soil off from the hams or beef, and while they are damp, rub them thoroughly with the pepper. Two pounds of pepper will keep thirty pounds of meat free from flies or insects of all kinds. It can remain, after being thus treated, in the smoke house or wood house, and not a fly will approach it. It also improves the flavor of the meat.

TO KEEP BUTTER TWO YEARS.—Take one ounce each of saltpetre and white sugar and mix them thoroughly, two ounces of the best Spanish great salt, all in fine powder; then add one ounce of the mixture to every pound of butter, and incorporate them thoroughly together. The butter is then to be tightly pressed into clean glazed earthen ware vessels, so as to leave no vacuum.

PROTECTION AGAINST MOTHS.—A correspondent of the Cabinet Maker gives the following recipe as one which has kept the moths out of a furniture warehouse for ten years past: Flour of hops, one drachm; Scotch snuff, two ounces; gum camphor, one ounce; black pepper, one ounce; cedar sawdust, four ounces. Mix thoroughly, and strew, or put in papers, among the goods.

TO COLOR SCARLET.—One oz. cochineal, one oz. cream of tartar, one oz. muriate of tin, for one pound of woolen goods. Pulverize the cochineal thoroughly by pounding. Put two pails of soft water in a brass or porcelain kettle. Put the cochineal in a bag, and while the water is coming to a boil, squeeze it out with the hands, then add the other ingredients, put in the goods and let them boil an hour, constantly stirring.

COURT PLASTER.—Balsam of benzoin one part, alcohol twelve parts, mix—then isinglass two parts, and water barely sufficient to dissolve. Strain the two solutions separately, then mix them. For use, place the bottle in warm water, and give the silk, previously strained on rollers, ten or twelve coats with a brush; when dry, give it a coat of the following: Ohio turpentine one part, tincture of benzoin two parts.

TO WASH HAIR BRUSHES.—Hair brushes, however dirty, may be washed and kept good for years, without loss of stiffness, by putting a small handful of soda into a pint jug of boiling water. When the soda is melted, put in the brush and stir it till clean. Rinse it in cold water, and dry in the sun or by the fire. The quicker it dries, the harder the bristles will be.

TO MAKE YELLOW INK.—This ink, sometimes useful in making pen and ink sketches, is prepared thus: Take French berries, (a yellow berry sold by druggists,) one ounce, alum half an ounce, rain or distilled water half a pint, gum arabic quarter of an ounce. Boil the whole together for about eight or ten minutes, then strain through fine muslin; when cold it is fit for use. The berries may be obtained from dry-salters.

VINEGAR IN THREE WEEKS.—Molasses one quart; yeast, one pint; put into a jug or keg containing three gallons soft water: tie a thin piece of gauze over the mouth or bunghole, and set it in the sun. Set it in a warm place in winter. In three weeks you will find good vinegar. More molasses and yeast will make stronger vinegar.

It is gratifying to notice that the English government have acknowledged the distinguished services of the Earl de Grey and Ripon who was at the head of the Joint Commission that negotiated the international treaty between Great Britain and the United States, by creating him Marquis of Ripon. If distinguished generals are worthy of promotion for victories gained by bloody war, certainly those are no less deserving of high elevation who remove causes of alienation and harmonize conflicting interests, and thus bind in fraternal concord nations who otherwise would have rushed into deadly strife.

DESCRIPTIVE CATALOGUE

OF VALUABLE

NORTH CAROLINA LANDS,

FOR SALE BY

GEORGE D. POOL,

Real Estate Agent,

ELIZABETH CITY, N. C.

In presenting my list of lands and other properties for sale, I would say that no section of the United States offers such inducements for capitalists and emigrants, as this section of North Carolina. In longevity and healthfulness, it will compare favorably with any where; and in easy and cheap transportation of products to market, in pleasantness of climate, in the stability of the people, in great fertility, and durability of soil, no section can equal it.

A railroad will soon be built to Weldon, putting this place in direct communication by Rail, with the whole United States. This, together with our great fishing, farming and manufacturing interests, and certain early completion of already projected works of improvement for putting in nearer, cheaper and easier communication with the Ocean, will render this one of the most important commercial, and manufacturing points on the Southern country.

A Steam Saw and Grist Mill in the town of Nixonton 8 miles from E. City. This Mill has a fine wharf and store attached on deep navigable water the engine is 10 horse power, and all in good order. It is one of the finest locations to be found any where for custom work, and for getting good saw logs easily and cheaply. Price $4,000 cash.

Adjoining the mill property is 40 acres of fine land on the River, with three houses, all for $1200. Near the same is a good two story dwelling and 13 acres of land for $2,000, and a good one story dwelling, with one acre of land for $300.

Also two fine farms in Pasquotank county, 10 miles from E. City, within half mile of church, school house and post office. One tract contains about 400 acres, with fair buildings and mostly cleared, and the other contains 300 acres, with good two story dwelling, large barn, and other outhouses, both are offered at $20 per acre, one third cash, balance in one and two years.

Also one other tract in Pasquotank county, containing 116 acres, within one mile of the town with fine building, mostly cleared and in cultivation. Price $25 per acre, one half cash, balance in 12 months.

A valuable site for a hotel at Nag's Head, 40 miles from Elizabeth City, and 50 miles from Edenton. This is situated immediately on the Ocean, and is a famous Summer resort for invalids, and those seeking health, comfort, and amusements during the summer months. It is in direct communication by steamboats and railroad with all parts of North Carolina, Virginia, and the North; and is equal in natural advantages to Newport, or Cape May. Visitors flock to this famous summer resort by hundreds and thousands, and a large amount of money can be made by a hotel. A charter has been obtained from the Legislature of N. C., for a joint stock company to build the hotel. There is now an old hotel on the spot, which could be cheaply repaired and bought for $3,000. This hotel, though imperfectly kept, cleared the proprietor last season, over $3,000. For a man or a company, having some capital, this is one of the finest chances to make money at hotel keeping to be found anywhere. The early attention of the public is invited to this property.

A fine steam saw and grist mill at Hertford, the county seat of Perquimans County, N. C., 18 miles from Elizabeth City. This mill has a fifty horse power engine, now in good running, two pairs of best French burr stones, and two upright saws. The house has a brick basement, and the building is large and in good order. There is one and a half acres of land belonging to this property, and a good two story dwelling, and other out-houses. The section of country adjacent abounds in the finest yellow pine, cypress, ash, poplar, and other valuable timber. This property originally cost $15,000, and is now offered at forced sale for the low price of $3,500, $7.00, cash, and the balance in six equal instalments, six months apart each with interest.

A fine farm and fishery in same county. The farm contains 400 acres of the finest land, lies immediately on Albemarle Sound where the water is 12 miles wide, and 18 to 20 feet deep, has got buildings, and fine neighborhood. The fishery is put the farm and goes with it. It has a new seine 2,500 yards long, and all the necessary boats, buildings, &c., (which cost over $15,000 two years ago) The fishery alone, of a good season, will make from 5 to $10,000 profit to the owner. This property is offered at forced sale for the low price of $20,000. $7,000 cash, balance on easy times.

A store at South Mills, in Camden county, 20 miles from E. City, and 20 miles from Norfolk, lying on the canal where steamers pass daily. A fine chance for merchandize. Store is large with dwelling above containing six rooms, is in first rate order, has office, kitchen, dairy, and other necessary outhouses. Goods to the amt. of $50,000 per annum can be sold here, and at large profits. A splended stand for a country retail store. Price $2,500—one third cash, balance in one and two years.

A valuable tract of land in Camden county, at South Mills, on the Dismal Swamp Canal, lying on the canal for two miles, containing over 900 acres of land—two-thirds cleared, and in a fine state of cultivation, with good buildings, &c.; balance in valuable timber. Price $12,000, one-third cash, balance in one and two years, interest from January, 1871. This is a valuable farm for corn, wheat, and vegetables, and being midway between Elizabeth City and Norfolk, and located where steamers pass by the door daily, is a desirable and cheap property.

A fine farm of 600 acres within six miles of E. City, one mile from navigable water, and the best cotton farm in the State. It is also well adapted to raising corn and wheat. This farm has a splended two-story dwelling upon it, large barn, 40 by 60 feet, a large number of outhouses, by splended trees and shrubbery, is in a strong Union neighborhood, and altogether the most desirable place in the county. A little over one-half of this land is cleared, and the balance is covered with the finest yellow pine, popler, ash and other timber. Price $30 per acre—one-third cash, balance in one and two years with interest. Title reserved.

Sixteen houses and lots in Elizabeth City, with good dwellings, out-houses, &c. Prices and terms reasonable.

A valuable farm in Perquimans county, N. C. near navigable water. Has a fine dwelling-house with ten rooms, in splended order, with splended barns and stables—all in first rate order. The farm is very productive in corn, oats, wheat, cotton and clover. It is one of the finest farms in the State and is now in good cultivation, contains 585 acres of land, about three-fourths cleared and under cultivation. Price $10,000, one-third cash January 1, next, balance in two equal annual instalments with interest at the rate of six per cent.

A farm of 370 acres 8 miles from town by water, and 12 miles by land, is offered for sale for $10,000 in easy payments. This tract of land lies immediately on the River which is 4 miles wide and washes the farm its whole length on one side, and a branch of the River one mile wide, binds it on one end. The land is well adapted to raising corn, wheat, cotton, oats, peas, &c., lies high and dry, and is susceptible of the highest improvement. Fronting and looking over, as it does, two large sheets of navigable water, where steamers and sailing vessels are constantly passing, carrying freight and passengers to all parts of the country, its location and surroundings, are of the most fascinating and desirable character. There is a fishery on it ready for working a seine 2,500 yards long, and which commands a portion of both streams of water, and can be made immensely profitable. The price charged is low, and the purchase a very desirable one. The buildings consist of a good two-story dwelling and out-houses.

A tract of valuable land, containing 356 acres, with fine two story dwelling containing 9 rooms and cook-room. Servant's house with 3 rooms, large barns and stables, all necessary and convenient out-houses, 3 tenant-houses near town, and immediately on the River. About 100 acres of this land is in fine wood and timber, balance in a fine state of cultivation. It has 8,000 grape vines one year old, 3,500 peach, apple and dwarf pear trees, five acres in strawberries which yielded an immence profit this year, ten acres in Lawton and other rare varieties of black-berries, 15 to 20,000 young peach trees with other choice fruits too numerous to mention. This farm has a public road on one side, and the River on the other, where strangers come daily to the landings to receive the fruits and vegetables, and carry them down to Norfolk, Baltimore, Phila., or New York. The land is finely adapted to raising corn, wheat, cotton, oats, and all other field crops.

The owner of this farm offers to sell in tracts, to suit purchasers, say in 50 to 100 acre tracts, and at prices ranging from 35 to $80 per acre, according to location, buildings, &c.

There is also on this farm a fine fishery, where a seine 1,000 yards long, and 20 feet deep is hauled every Spring. Herring, Shad, Rock-fish, Sturgeon and other valuable fish, are caught by thousands at every draw of the seine. And the profits are frequently large. This fishery of itself is worth nearly as much as is charged for the whole property. The terms will be liberal. This is probably the finest opportunity offered any where for a profitable investment.

☞ Fishery has an office, and two houses for hands besides fish house. Then some 500 to 1,000 loads of best fish manure on hand, besides over 5,000 loads of compost made ready for use. This goes with the farm.

A desirable house and lot in the town of Elizabeth City on the corner of two principal streets, the principal one, and situated in the best business locality in the town. The lot contains about two acres of land, and the buildings consist of a fair dwelling three stories high, containing eight rooms, all in good order, another two story building with four rooms and pantries, dairy, smokehouses, stables, &c. The dwelling has a good cellar under it. There is room on the front lot to erect two good stores, and they would occupy the best stand in the town for merchandize.

BONE DUST.—

The subscriber has just erected at his Farm, near the city, the most improved machinery for making BONE DUST, and is now ready to fill orders for any quantity, which will be delivered at the shortest notice.

The BONE DUST will be finer than any heretofore made by him, (no chemical process resorted to,) enabling the Farmer or Planter to sow it with a Drill.

Mr. Samuel Sands, well known to the Farmers and Planters of the United States as the former Editor of the "American Farmer and Rural Register," will have charge of his office, NO. 63 S. GAY STREET, near Pratt, and will be happy to receive the visits or orders of his old friends.

$45 per ton, put in new bags. No charge for bags.

Farmers and others are invited to visit my works. I have nothing to conceal.

My men have nothing nice to perform, therefore I have no "non-admittance" signs on my premises. Persons are free to examine my factory, and the modus operandi of Dust making.

I cannot afford to pay 5, 10 or 20 per cent. to commission merchants, as my profits do not exceed 10 per cent.

Bone Dust, as manufacured by me, is A simple, and its quality cannot be made to conform to the price.

LAND AND LUMBR COMPANY'S COLUMN.

LAND AND LUMBER COMPANY

OF

NORTH CAROLINA.

Incorporated by the Legislature of North Carolina, December 17, 1868.

CAPITAL STOCK - - - - $300,000,00.

General Office: Elizabeth City, N. C.

OFFICERS

J. M. WEED, President. C. W. SMITH, Treasurer.

C. H. ROBINSON, Secretary.

DIRECTORS

J. M. WEED, WM. UNDERWOOD, CHARLES W. SMITH,
N. R. ZIMMERMAN AND G. B. THOMPSON.

TO THE PUBLIC.

THE LAND AND LUMBER COMPANY having a large amount of Real Estate of their own to dispose of, and their business having increased to such an extent, they think it prudent to decline acting further as Commission Agents for the sale of lands belonging to others. They will however be glad at all times to furnish every facility to parties coming to Elizabeth City with a desire to look at the country and make purchases if they find it to their interest to do so.

The following list of property, owned by the Company, is offered for sale on the most reasonable terms. Their object now is to acquire a larger monied capital for the purpose of further developing their unimproved lands and carrying out their original design of increasing the Commerce and General Trade of Elizabeth City.

As there are others in the Commission Business, parties are referred to their advertisement for further information.

ELIZABETH CITY.

The following desirable list of Properties in Elizabeth City are offered at very reduced prices for cash or on time payments at rates which make any of them excellent investments for capitalists. We feel confident that this City is destined to become a large place and property will advance rapidly. Emigration is now tending Southernward and the feeling is in universal favor toward Elizabeth City.

A large two-story dwelling known as the Parsonage, with fine double Piazza, front and back, large out kitchen, stables, carriage house, with 17 acres of ground well enclosed. This ground is all within the corporation of the City, and is well situated to lay out in building lots and make out of it ten fold the price asked for it.

A two-story dwelling containing ten rooms, 10,000 gallon cistern and all necessary out-houses, with large lot. Situated on Main Street. A Vacant Lot no better located and not so large as this was sold recently for $1600 cash.

A large brick store house and wharf situate on Watet street, in E. City, co nprising three lots with 400 feet of water front, permanently wharfed for the accommodation of large vessels. There is erected on these lots a large two-story brick building, 50 by 80 feet, well fitted up for a wholesale or retail trade at present occupied by the "Yankee Store."

A large wood store on west side of Water street 36 by 60, two stories high, being one of the best stands on Water street for merchandizing.

A House and Lot on Riverside Avenue. House 20ft front by 60 ft deep. Containing eight rooms with Pantry and Cellar, all well finished, modern style, and having all necessary out buildings. The lot contains a front of 400 ft, and would be a good location for a large shop or foundry as one whole side fronts on the water.

Also a large number of Wharf Lots, Mill Lots and Vacant Lots at very low prices, some of which are enumerated below. The Wharf Lots are 200ft deep and will be sold in any size desired along the River. Among them are some most eligible situations for Store Houses, Mills and Manufactories of any kind as there is a fine harbor immediately in front of them, having 30ft of water, sufficient for vessels of any capacity. Along Pennsylvania Avenue are offered some of the finest and choicest lots, for dwellings in town at prices varying according to location. This will be the finest street in town, is 80 feet wide, size of Lot 100ft front by 200ft deep. There are now a number of first class residences being erected on this street. Immediately in the vicinity of these Lots the Company have erected a large Planing Mill, Sash, Blind and Door Factory at a cost of near $20,000 and also their Saw Mill at a cost of near $15,000. That now is the proper time to invest in those Lots there can be no doubt, as they will double in value in a very short time. Lots not near so good as these, are now selling in other parts of the City at more than double the price asked for these.

VACANT LOTS.

Lots Nos. 150, 155, 158, 161, 163, 165, 167, 170, 172, 175, 178, 180, 182, 185, 187, 190, 193, 195, 198 and 200, situate on Pennsylvania avenue, in the new extension of Elizabeth City, all choice lots, intended for the better class of residences. Size of lots 100 feet front by 200 feet deep. Price varying, according to location, from $100 to $1000.

TOWN LOTS.

Lots Nos. 250, 253, 255, 256, 258, 261, 263, 266, 267, 268, 271, 283, 285, 287, 288, 289, 291, 296, 299 and 300, situated on various Streets in the new extension of Elizabeth City, size of lots 50 feet front by 100 feet deep, at prices varying from $25 to $100.

MILL LOTS.

Four Mill-Lots situated on Knobb's Creek, so that logs can be taken from the creek to the mill. These lots have 200 feet each of water front, and over 600 feet deep to Mill street, and are choice sites. The purchaser will also have the right of storage for logs in the boom.

PASQUOTANK COUNTY.

The Land and Lumber Company also offer for sale, one thousand acres of their timbered land along the Main Road leading from Elizabeth City to Hertford and Edenton. Said land heavily wooded, soil very rich and about four miles from Elizabeth City. This land will be sold in lots to suit purchasers and at the low price of ten dollars per acre.

They also offer a tract of three thousand acres in Lots to suit purchasers, near the Pasquotank River, ten miles from Elizabeth City and three miles from South Mills. This land is heavily set with wood and also has upon it a vast amount of saw timber, and has a most excellent soil. This is a fine location for a small Colony. There is now a Public Road running directly through it. This tract is offered at the low price of eight dollars per acre if sold to one party, or at only a fraction more if divided into small lots.

The Company will also sell their farm of 250 acres two miles from Elizabeth City. 125 acres cleared and under good cultivation, well fenced, having upon it two dwelling houses, one new and the necessary out buildings wanted on a farm, and will be sold on very reasonable terms.

Also another farm one mile from Elizabeth City containing one hundred acres, between thirty and forty acres cleared and under cultivation, the balance is now being cut off and is nearly ready to be cleared up and cultiuated. This property is very desirable being so near the City though for reasons first given will be sold at a very low price.

We have a finely timbered tract of land situated on the Albemarle Sound twenty miles from Elizabeth City, containing 124 acres. Good timber land bordering on the water is valuable both for wood as well as saw timber as water trausportation affords a good margin for wood, say one dollar per cord. This will also make good farm land—will be sold for one thousand dollars.

Also one other tract of land containing 154 acres situated immediately on the Pasquotank River ten miles from Elizabeth City, valuable for wood, and is excellent farming lands, would be sold for six dollars per acre.

GATES COUNTY.

The Land & Lumber Company have a tract of 350 acres of timbered land one half mile from Chowan River and three miles from Winton the county seat of Hertford county. This body of land is well timbered and will be sold at the low price of three dollars per acre.

☞ The most direct and cheapest route is to go to Baltimore by N. C. R. R., then Bay Line steamer to Norfolk, Va., then steamer to Elizabeth City, N. C.

DR. RADWAY'S SARSAPARILLIAN RESOLVENT

Has made the most astonishing cures; so quick, so rapid are the changes the body undergoes, under the influence of this truly wonderful medicine, that

EVERY DAY AN INCREASE IN FLESH AND WEIGHT IS SEEN AND FELT.

THE GREAT BLOOD PURIFIER.

Every drop of the SARSAPARILLIAN RESOLVENT communicates through the Blood, Sweat, Urine, and other fluids and juices of the system the vigor of life, for it repairs the wastes of the body with new and sound material. Scrofula, Syphili, Consumption, Glandular disease, Ulcers in the throat, Mouth, Tumors, Nodes in the Glands and other parts of the system, Sore Eyes, Strumorous discharges from the Ears, and the worst forms of Skin diseases, Eruptions, Fever Sores, Scald Head, Ring Worm, Salt Theum, Erysipelas, Acne, Black Spots, Worms in the Flesh, Tumors, Cancers in the Womb, and all weakening and painful discharges, Night Sweats, Loss of Sperm and all wastes of the life principle, are within the curative range of this wonder of Modern Chemistry, and a few days' use will prove to any person using it for either of these forms of disease its potent power to cure them.

If the patient, daily becoming reduced by the wastes and decomposition that is continually progressing, succeeds in arresting these wastes, and repairs the same with new material made from healthy blood—and this the SARSAPARILLIAN will and does secure—a cure is certain; for when once this remedy commences its work of purification, and succeeds in diminishing the loss of wastes, its repairs will be rapid, and every day the patient will feel himself growing better and stronger, the food digesting better, appetite improving, and flesh and weight increasing.

Not only does the SARSAPARILLIAN RESOLVENT excels all known remedial agents in the cure of Chronic, Scrofulous, Constitutional, and Skin diseases; but it is the only positive cure for KIDNEY & BLADDER COMPLAINTS, Urinary, and Womb diseases, Gravel, diabetes, Dropsy, Stoppage of Water, Incontinence of Urine, Bright's Disease, Albuminuria, and in all cases where there are brick dust deposits, or the water is thick, cloudy, mixed with substances like the white of an egg, or threads like silk, or there is a morbid, dark, bilious appearance, and white bone-dust, deposits, and when there is a pricking, burning sensation when passing water, and pain in the Small of the Back and along the Loins.

MILLIONS Bear Testimony to their Wonderful Curative Effects. They are not a vile Fancy Drink, made of Poor Rum, Whiskey, Proof Spirits and Refuse Liquors doctored, spiced and sweetened to please the taste, called "Tonics," "Appetizers," "Restorers, &c., that lead the tippler on to drunkenness and ruin, but are a true medicine, made from the native roots and herbs of California, free from all Alcoholic Stimulants. They are the GREAT BLOOD PURIFIER and a LIFE GIVING PRINCIPLE, a perfect Renovator and Invigorator of the System, carrying off all poisonous matter and restoring the blood to a healthy condition. No person can take these Bitters according to directions, and remain long unwell, provided their bones are not destroyed by mineral poison or other means, and the vital organs wasted beyond the point of repair.

They are a Gentle Purgative as well as a Tonic, possessing also the peculiar merit of acting as a powerful agent in relieving Congestion or Inflammation of the Liver, and all the Visceral Organs.

FOR FEMALE COMPLAINTS, whether in young or old, married or single, at the dawn of womanhood or at the turn of life, these Tonic Bitters have no equal.

For Inflammatory and Chronic Rheumatism and Gout, Dyspepsia or Indigestion, Bilious, Remittent and Intermittent Fevers, Diseases of the Blood, Liver, Kidneys and Bladder, these Bitters have been most successful. Such Diseases are caused by Vitiated Blood, which is generally produced by derangement of the Digestive Organs.

DYSPEPSIA OR INDIGESTION, Headache, Pain in the Shoulders, Coughs, Tightness of the Chest, Dizziness, Sour Eructations of the Stomach, Bad Taste in the Mouth, Bilious Attacks, Palpitation of the Heart, Inflammation of the Lungs, Pain in the regions of the Kidneys, and a hundred other painful symptoms are the offsprings of Dyspepsia.

They invigorate the Stomach and stimulate the torpid Liver and Bowels, which render them of unequaled efficacy in cleansing the blood of all impurities, and imparting new life and vigor to the whole system.

FOR SKIN DISEASES, Eruptions, Tetter, Salt Rheum, Blotches, Spots, Pimples, Pustules, Boils, Carbuncles, Ring-worms, Scald Head, Sore Eyes, Erysipelas, Itch, Scurfs, Discolorations of the Skin, Humors and Diseases of the Skin, of whatever name or nature, are literally dug up and carried out of the System in a short time by the use of these Bitters. One bottle in such cases will convince the most incredulous of their curative effects.

Cleanse the Vitiated Blood whenever you find its impurities bursting through the skin in Pimples, Eruptions, or Sores; cleanse it when you find it obstructed and sluggish in the veins; cleanse it when it is foul, and your feelings will tell you when. Keep the blood pure, and the health of the system will follow.

Pin, Tape, and other Worms, lurking in the system of so many thousands, are effectually destroyed and removed. Says a distinguished physiologist, there is scarcely an individual upon the face of the earth whose body is exempt from the presence of worms. It is not upon the healthy elements of the body that worms exist, but upon the diseased humors and slimy deposits that breed these living monsters of disease. No system of Medicine, no vermifuges, no anthelmintics, will free the system from worms like these Bitters.

Sold by all Druggists and Dealers.
